This story was made for

Cohen

Cohen sails to Dinosaur Island on a big wooden ship. “Land ho!”

Big dinosaurs stomp across the green, green land.
Stomp, stomp, STOMP!

Cohen walks and looks. Dinosaurs rest
by the sparkly lake,
and two fly up high!

The dinosaurs are gentle and kind. Cohen pats a big nose. Giggle, giggle!

Up the green trail goes
Cohen. “Rawr... rawr...”
A tiny dinosaur is lost and all alone!

“Don’t worry,” says Cohen. “I will help you find your family.”

Big footprints lead
up the volcano.
Up, up, up they climb!

At the top, it's Mama and Papa! Hugs and happy roars for everyone!

Time to go! Cohen zips down the mountain on a jungle vine. Wheeee!

The sun goes down.
Cohen waves. “Goodbye, Dinosaur Island!”

The End

See you again soon, Dinosaur Island!
